There are being opened up and graded in both the East End and the West End miles of new streets, which require some attention. It will be many years, if at all, before the value of the property will justify the smooth paving of these streets, and some form of inexpensive roadbed is essential, if, indeed, the streets are to be used at all in, wet weather.

Indeed, the streets are to be used at all in, wet weather.

Members of the Street Committee assert that Richmond now has enough highly improved streets on which wealthy clitzens may erect high priced houses; that what it needs is miles of comparatively inexpensive streets, properly graded, graveled and with curbing and guttering, on which salaried men may rent or erect homes within their means, and live in comfort, if not with the pretension of the mansion houses on the great thorough fares, such as Monument Avenue,

The above is a statement made by W. Greenor Neal, the man behind the money in the Wells organizations, and was made in reply to a question as to his attitude in regard to the City Auditorium being rented to the Shuberts for the production of their read Hippodrome show. Mr. Neal is a man of few words, but very long on action. He states that he has never had any objection to the Auditorium being rented to the Wednesday Club or kindred organizations. In fact, he admitted that he was a patron of the Wednesday Club and would be glad if the city gave the Auditorium free of any rental charge.

But when the Radilifee Lyceum Bureau came to Richmond, competing with my business, and rented the hall for almost a song, I objected. I did not carry the objection to its logical end, for, when the matter, was brought to my stiention.

the city had already entered into a contract with Radciffe, and I did not want to involve the city in a suit or lengthy illigation.

"My associates and myself represent property values aggregating $300,000 in the city of Richmond. We pay a higher license here than in any city in which we do business. We pay equally as high taxes, both city and State. We have fought a hard fight to get good performances for the Richmond people. When Klaw & Erlanger did our booking and the attractions were not up to standard, becope kicked. Then we went out after the open door. We thought we had won, when we were thrown down. Our house is now open. All of this has been done at great financial scriffce. Now it is intended to let the city of Richmond enter into competition with us by renting to the Shuberts the City Auditorium at a price ridiculously low, and made possible because the city of Richmond enter into competition would be unconstitutional.

"I am reliably informed that any such action would be unconstitutional, and I am further advised that there are few Councilmen who will approve of such action. I shall use every effort to safeguard my interests, and, if necessary, I will go into the courts. The city may have the right to engage in the theatrical business, but if has it has also the right to go into the newspaper business or the leather business or any other business and this right, the city should be made to pay the same taxes imposed on its competitors."

Miss Felomina Etosh, daughter of Alexander Etosh, of 713 West Main Street, is the latest victim repofted of the attacks of a rabid terrier belonging to Mrs. H. H. Pollock, of 398 North Third Street, and she will begin to-day taking the Pasteur treatment from Dr. Meade Ferguson, of the State Health Department, who is administering the inoculation in a room of the Instructive Visiting Nurses' Association, 201 West Cary Street.

Miss Etosh's father is reported to have objected at first to having her take the treatment, but Dr. Ferguson was informed yesterday that she would begin taking it this morning.

The Pasteur inoculation is the only known preventive of rabies, from which death in the most horrible form results. There is no law to compel taking treatment, and, as Dr. Ferguson said last uight, "If any one bitten by this mad dog wishes to die in the agonizing throes of rabies there is no legal process to act as a bar."

Sone time ago a woman living in Henrico county was bitten by a mad dog, and she refused to take the Yasteur treatment, which her physician earnestly advised as her only hope. In a few weeks the dread disease attacked her in its worst form, and she died in terrible agony. A. COMMITTEE SEEKS FACTS

Trying to Find Out What Influences Prompt Her Refusal of Better Place.

Chairman Graham Hobson has called a special meeting of the Council Committee on Relief of the Poor for tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock to unravel the tangle growing out of the selection of a marron for the City Home. The present situation, members of the committee assert, is unparalleled in the history of the city—a city employe has declined election to an advanced position, paying twice that of the position she now holds. Members of the committee are convinced that there is something back of the refusal. The inquiry may result in some changes there is something back of the refusal. The inquiry may result in some changes in the methods at the institution and the establishment of an officers' table for physicians and officers of the home, a plan advocated several years ago by Dr. Ennion G. Williams, while a member of the committee. It was defeated, and since that time the matron has been boarding the ambulance doctors and officers and head nurses as a private venture, and it is believed that therein lies the key to the present difficulty.

Picked by House Committee.
Some weeks ago Mrs. MacDougall, or some years the matron of the City son, it being clearly understood that the appointment was purely temporary, until the committee could take the matter up and elect a permanent officer for the home.

Monday afternoon the committee went out to the home on its quarterly tour of inspection. Some one suggested that the selection of a matron be disposed of, and Superintendent Cabell and Steward Hughes highly recommended the incumbent, Miss Johnson, who had served acceptably for several weeks, but who had not hitherto been weeks, but who had not hitherto been a resident of Richmond.
